CAMBRIDGE HIGH and LATIN SCHOOL

Dedication

---

We, the class of 1947, respectfully dedicate this our yearbook to the memory of our beloved teacher, coach, and friend Mr. Leander McDonald.

CAMBRIDGE HIGH and LATIN SCHOOL

We, the class of 1947, appreciate with grateful hearts the sympathy, understanding and sage counsel of our beloved headmaster, Mr. Downey. We hope that in the years to come he will look back upon our class as one worthy of his expert guidance.

Prologue

Regretfully we come to the realization that our high school years will soon exist only as memories. Cherished as these memories are, they will gradually fade and become hidden in the dim recesses of our minds.

It is, therefore, our sincere wish that this book may transport us through the years of forgetfulness to the recollection of our youthful days.

JOHN MCCARTHY.

Class Poem — 1947

---

With high ideals, with hope aflame,
We leave the harbor safe, secure;
To meet the challenge of the sea
We set our destination, — fame.
We pray for strength to help endure
The voyage. Led by precepts wise,
A beacon always in the dark,
Away from rocks we steer our bark.
We go with courage, knowledge, faith
Our heads held high, and in our hearts
We carry hope through darkest hours
To strengthen us to pilot safe
Our ship, amid the shoals of time.
A century of life, now past,
A tribute, owed for many years
By students, now in many lands,
Dear School, we pledge our heartfelt thanks,
Pray God for centuries more you'll stand
To guide the lives of those unborn
Into the paths of justice, right,
And lead them on to greater heights.

FRANCES McDONNELL.

Class Song — 1947

---

One Hundred years ago
To mount the rugged height
Our Latin school first called its youth,
And bade them ever seek the light.

Now, we in forty-seven
Strive onward toward that goal;
We see the lamp of wisdom there,
That science, art, and truth control.

One hundred years again
With guidance from above
May loyal students boldly climb
The trail to knowledge, faith, and love.

HELEN BEQUAERT

In Memoriam

George J. Lovett, Jr.

Mr. George J. Lovett, Jr., teacher of Physics, died at his home, Tuesday, November 12. He had been ill for only a few weeks and was apparently on the way back to normal health when the end came swiftly and unexpectedly.

Of large frame and genial nature, Mr. Lovett brought to his classes a generous mixture of scholarship and human understanding. His intense patriotism was reflected in his enlistment at an early date in his country's cause. As an officer in the Navy, he gave four years of loyal and devoted service; a period of activity which unquestionably left its mark upon his erstwhile physical vigor.

His devotion to duty as a teacher was in evidence up to his last day when he had planned with his sister Catherine to put marks on teachers' record slips so that other members of his department might not be burdened with extra work resulting from his absence. Consideration of this sort can be the mark of nobility of character, and George Lovett gave expression to it.

Elsewhere in the annals of time we pay tribute to two other great teachers whose years here, like Mr. Lovett's, were rich in fruit for the pupils whom they taught and for us who were privileged to know them in the fellowship of teaching. Life had been generous in years and achievements to Miss Coyle and Mr. Cain, but in the untimely loss of Mr. Lovett at the age of thirty-three death seems doubly cruel. "So much of promised usefulness and of bright hopes for one's self and friends, have rarely been so suddenly dashed as in his fall."

Leander A. MacDonald

It would be in keeping with the innate modesty of the man and the wish that we know would be his, were we to record simply that Mr. MacDonald died on December 27th at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. It is fitting, however, that we pause in the day's occupation to pay our tribute of appreciation, inadequate though it be, to years of service given in the classroom and on the athletic field.

A graduate of Bridgewater Normal School, with subsequent study at Harvard University and Tufts College, Mr. MacDonald came to the school in September 1918. He was a capable and conscientious teacher, well-trained professionally, and vigorous in his concept of classroom procedure. Excellent as was his record with his classes, he will be remembered chiefly for the lessons he taught through the medium of sports and for the force of his own exemplification of the meaning of true sportsmanship.

There was nothing of the whiner or of vindictive nature in Mr. MacDonald's makeup. He could take his successes calmly and his losses without alibis. In the broader sphere of Life's game he accepted the buffets of fortune with a twinkle of the eyes, an understanding smile and a meaningful shrug of the shoulders. His love of youth was amply demonstrated when upon retirement from active association with the athletic life of the school he continued his interest in sports with boys of pre-high school age. The splendid tribute of respect and affection paid by these selfsame boys will long be remembered by those who saw it at the close of the services at St. Paul's.

The time that he gave to Youth is reaping its timeless reward.

TIMOTHY F. DOWNEY,
Headmaster.

CAMBRIDGE HIGH and LATIN SCHOOL

When the doors of the Cambridge High and Latin School swung open to welcome the Freshmen class of 1947, we entered into a new life. Between the maze of winding corridors, and the discouragement we experienced as we stumbled through our Latin declensions and endeavored to make  $x$  plus  $x$  equal  $2x$ , we learned, in time, the distinguishing marks of an upper classman, and tried to convince ourselves that before many more term tests, we too would attain that zenith, the rank of upper classmen.

Along with the G. A. A. meetings, held in the Latin Hall, and the walks across the library grounds to the gym periods at Rindge, we did not stop purchasing War Stamps and Bonds. Nor was our class lacking in school spirit, for on the hockey and baseball teams, we were well represented.

With the assurance that comes with the making of new friends, many of us ventured to undertake our first social affair, the G. A. A. Informal. About this time of the year, we realized that teachers were really human, and that Masters and Deans were not formidable beings.

During our Freshmen days came D Day, an event that hastened the end of the global conflict.

Then June arrived and with it report cards that bore that all-important word — Sophomore.

The class that returned to the school the next fall was in no way comparable to the wide-eyed freshmen who had entered these portals of learning only a year before. Sophomore supposedly means "wise fool" and we were exactly that, at least according to our new teachers. Nor did they hesitate to remind us that we were just a step removed from the baby class of the school. But didn't we have our lockers on the second floor and did not we suffer the rush that comes with eating during the recesses in contrast to our leisurely 4th period lunches?

We had also realized what to us was a real accomplishment. There was a class in Cambridge Latin to whom we were superior and every chance to emphasize this superiority was grasped eagerly. With only two years remaining before us, we could walk casually on the same side of a corridor with a senior and a junior merited nothing but a slight lowering of our eyes. However, we were certain that our presence called for much display of deference on the part of the infant freshmen.

Our social status in the school automatically rose with our promotion. We had the right to attend all the formals, and by this time we had enough members of our class out for athletics to attend games and to know for whom we were lustily cheering, both at Russell Field and at the hockey games, held at the Boston Garden.

Study periods found us trying to balance credits and debits or marching through Gaul with Caesar and many of us became acquainted with the nurse on examination days. But the passing of the only President who was really a vital part of our lives, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, injected a deep note of sadness into the happy days that marked the end of the underclassmen period of high school career.

At last we had reached our goal, we were upperclassmen.

During the summer that had passed, a never-to-be-forgotten event took place; hostilities all over the world ceased on August 14, 1945. This brought about the return of many veterans to school, some brothers, some relatives, and all of whom we soon discovered to be a friendly, valuable addition to our school undertakings. By this time, many juniors on the football team were veterans of the gridiron and those boys who had taken part in hockey, track, basketball, and baseball with no recognition held first and second strong positions. We were now members of the various school clubs and everyone seemed determined to participate in the extra-curricular activities offered, especially the newly-organized Under 21 Club, that sponsored a place to dance afternoons and nights.

One day, we came to school to discover the corridors transformed by posters of all sorts announcing the approach of election day, and from then on, political campaigns began in earnest. We all sat, filled with suspense, as the final results were announced at assembly. Our choices were Stephen Biddle, president; Norma Higgins, vice-president; Donald Ryan, secretary; and William O'Brien, treasurer. The work done by our Junior Prom Committee made that event a milestone in our lives.

Our class was the first to have the opportunity to obtain class rings while still Juniors, and thus be able to wear them all through our Senior year. The idea was very successful.

When the Seniors left early in June we hastily stepped into their places, awaiting the coming of another September, our last, when we finally would be the reigning class of Cambridge High and Latin.

Believe it or not, it happened! We became seniors. However, as graduation approaches, we flip back the pages those days gone by, some sad, and most of them filled with joy and fond memories.

Shortly after our return as full-fledged seniors, nomination sheets became prominent. We elected as our final year's officers Richard Walker, president; Vincent Chaisson, vice-president; Patricia Kenealy, secretary; and Warren MacIsaac, treasurer.

Our senior year began a new era in the field of athletics. A new interest was instilled in every student, as a result of many mass meetings. We had a championship basketball team that made its way to the Tech Tourney, an experience quite new and thrilling to us. Our hockey team may be well commended upon its splendid showing during the season. Due to some ill luck, Cambridge Latin placed second in the G. B. I. League. In connection with this rebirth of sports in the Cambridge school system, many new teams were organized. These are golf, tennis, crew, and a revival for the girls, a swimming team.

April 12 — College Boards! In preparation for this dreaded event, was the drudgery of compulsory seventh periods, lasting sometimes until three o'clock. However, after a few of these seventh periods, we realized that we would benefit by them, and they became second nature.

Busy as we were, we all found time to face the camera at Purdy's. The leading question among seniors was, "How did your proofs turn out?"

From February on, graduation was becoming a realization. Suddenly, everyone was in a dither over year books, the senior questionnaire, frequent senior assemblies, the class song, and caps and gowns. In another way our class is unique, due to the kindness of Harvard University, we were given permission to hold our graduation exercises in the historic Harvard Yard. This was in honor of the hundredth anniversary of the school. After graduation we were invited to attend the ball of the school Alumnae Association.

In spite of all this confusion of our busy lives, however, we still found time to sing "Open the Door, Richard" or in one of our more sentimental moods, dance to "If You Were the Only Girl."

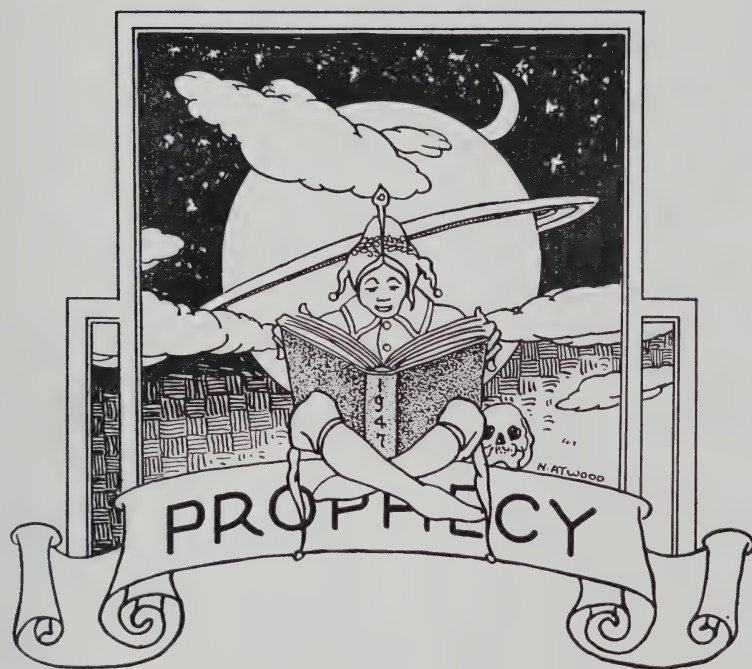

Now, with the coming of June sixth, we wish to thank with heartfelt appreciation those who helped us throughout our high school days. The whole faculty has helped and guided us, and we hope to be able to live up to the high standards they have set.

LORETTO C. SHEEHAN.

CAMBRIDGE HIGH and LATIN SCHOOL

Good morning, citizens of Cambridge. It is the sixth day of June in the year of our Lord 1967, as we start on a personality tour of our beloved city. The day is perfect for our tour — for we have been informed by our weatherman, Mark Walsted, that it would be cloudy; thus we are assured of warm, sunny weather.

First we see our local milkman, Richard Wood, talking to our mailman, Dick Barbera, and our iceman, William Paine. They're probably discussing the recent strike at H. Sullivan Manufacturing Company started by those two labor leaders, Al Nugent and Joe Sullivan. That genial-looking chap with the fishing rod is Billy O'Brien, who made a fortune in the packing business, and now leads the simple life. As we approach the business district we first notice the Hogan Building donated to the city by successful Paul Hogan. Doctor Beverly Brown, Dentists Eldoner Holley, Janice Lombard, and Doctor Thomas Archibald, world's specialist on the toe of the Left foot, have their respective offices here.

That fellow who nearly ran Annette Mailhiot and Margaret and Mildred Sweeney down is Jimmy Curry of course. He's quite a famous brain surgeon.

That's the new addition to C. H. L. S. and there's Dan Twomey, the Truant officer in the Cambridge school system, just leaving for his daily tour of the city. Leon Poirier is head of the Science Department; Lillian Connors, head of the Spanish Department, Pat Delery, gym Instructor, and advisor to the G. A. A.; Claire Barrett, head of the English Department; Roberta Jackson, head of the History Department; Lillia Ruff, head of the Biology Department. Sylvelin Walters, Jim Kelly, Shiela Martin, Joan Kelley, Evelyn Ifill are also teachers at C. H. L. S. Eleanor Cardillo, Barbara Doyle, Marilyn Center, Lois Chaulk, and Barbara Day are secretaries of the school under the direction of Angela Cotter and Doris Hanlon. Marie Theriault is the kind, sympathetic nurse, who is in charge of all sudden illnesses which occur during School hours. Over there behind the walls of beautiful Mt. Auburn hospital Dr. S. M. Biddle is flirting between operations with nurses Barbara Keith, Gloria Hanover, Lucille Grenier, Virginia Sprague, Mary Pergamo, Jean Sullivan, Dorothy Hall, Shirley Evans, Evelyn Donoghue, Catherine Breen, and Helen Lee. In a double room we find Billy Ratner and Jack Aronson recovering from ulcers owing to the cares of the business world under the treatment of Dr. Paul Goguen.

Iris Roach, Rowena Ridgely, Virginia O'Reilly and Virginia O'Brien, airline hostesses, recently returned from a flight from Bermuda. On the plane were Warren MacIsaac, Arthur Schatz, and John McCarthy, flying from an important meeting of "The Little Three." On the same plane were Generals Hank Sullivan, Richard Monahan, Joe Ponte, and Admirals Jerry Alger, Al Nugent and Don Nordstorm.

Teddy Zacharakis, Serefino Regillo, and Earl Ryan have been in the news quite a bit lately for their engineering work in Cuba. Giuglio Lopolito and John Balko have also been in the news for their discovery of a new use for atom power.

Over at the Robert Lee Chemical Laboratories we find Anthony Cardullo and Nellie Lee inventing their own special atomic bomb.

What's this! A poster drawn by Ann Talarico announcing a beauty contest to be sponsored by the famed photographer, Charlie Fosgate. Competing are Phyllis Munroe and Priscilla Munroe, Jean Tillson, Pat Kenealy, Pat Powers, Eleanor Russell, Jean Burns, Barbara Casey, and Maureen O'Leary.

CAMBRIDGE HIGH and LATIN SCHOOL

There on the corner, at Buster Gruhn's drugstore, are those two Miami Beach playboys, Dave Walsh and George Larson, accompanied by radio comedian Kirk Taylor. At Rosemary McFaul and Pat Doliber's bookstore, we find the latest novels by Helen Bequaert, Francis McDonnell, Suzanne Stephens and Carolyn Cremens. Buddy Gross's contribution, "Toujours Orange," is notably absent since it has just been banned in Boston. Also on the shelf we see a copy of the "Evergood Fashion Magazine," published by the Sheehan-Dinan Corporation, and illustrated by Carolyn Carruth, Claire Doe, Grace Maher, Rose Santos, and Mary Becker. Models for this magazine are June Burns, Patricia Glennon, Naomi Atwood, Helen Radaitis, Peggy Kief, and Dot Donovan.

While looking over a copy of the "Chronicle," we turn first to a comic strip by Bill Curran, and to the column "Advice to the Lovelorn" by Joan Larson. Emma Thomas and Norma Higgins report in their gossip column about their interview with Estelle Andelman on her return from a round-the-world trip. She tells of meeting Elliot Epstein, head of the Agriculture Union in Palestine, her visit with Lensey Chao, and E-An Zen, professor at a University in China. In Paris, she met Karin Enebuske, and together they passed an evening at a concert given by Arthur MacKenzie, in which Louis Eghian is first violinist. The previous week Lillian Marshall, Martin Martinian, Herman Green, Mary Citino, Georgia Marcus, Harold Beckford, and Jean Campos appeared in a joint concert program.

Also in the "Chronicle" we find a picture of Alba Amoroso and Juanita Alfaro, our local Red Cross Leaders. Contributions by Crooner Dick Gurner, Doctor Charles Lymperis, and singer Burt McLeod have put our city over the top.

It says here that Al Boyle and his orchestra, which includes Samuel Carter, Sparkie Miel, Micky Pahigian, and John Holman, and featured the idol of the bobby-soxers Saul Heller, is now at the famous Totem Pole.

"Lady of the Ballet" featuring Jean Culhane is now playing at the University Theatre, owned by Francis McNamara. Costumes for the picture were designed by Rita Rosenberg and Barbara Tager and styled by Ida Andella.

As we stroll through the Harvard Yards, we see Marilyn Wright, Abby Wise, and Ursula Zarsk, sweeping respectively the steps of the Eliot House, Dunster House, and Adams House, where they are janitresses.

Today is the day of the Cambridge Athletic Association rally and we see such great home town stars as Billy Craig, Bob Curnane, and Jack Barry of the Boston Red Sox; Yaka Kelley, Jackie Cawley, and Al Francisconi of the Celtics; and Earl Daurie, Cal Tassinari, Paul Boudreau, Jackie Donohue, Dick Smith, and Larry Brennan of the Bruins. Even their manager Frankie Bane is here. Representing the Boston Yanks we see Vinny Chaisson, Kenny Lyons, Red Palaro, Jimmy Troy, and Steve Zaglakas.

Lester Roffer and Gordon Clark are competing for the bowling championship of the world. Manny Lakis has just won the pool championship of the city.

Lillian Winkler, wife of a millionaire, is planning a dinner in honor of the opening of the Persis Wilkshire-Joanne Spitzer Chemical Laboratories. Hostesses will be Selma Rosenberg, Dorothy McGovern, Jean Davies, Pat Murphy, Mary Ellen Priester, and Vicky Gabriel.

CAMBRIDGE HIGH and LATIN SCHOOL

On the corner we find Carolyn Townsend running a local Bazarre, assisted by Claire Kilfoyle. The soap box orator attracting a crowd next to the bazaar is political leader Connie Perin. Walking towards the bazaar is Father Stephen Minkiel taking some of his boys to the ball game.

There's Alfred Anzalone, Charles Gallucio, Claude Ladner, James Malone, and Fred Smith in Joan Haley and Ellen Manning's Lunch Room. If we look in the booths we can probably see Ann Woodland, Mary De Young, Claire Doherty, Evelyn Dunbrisky, Elvira Shepard, Florence Pryzmont, Marion Murphy, and Mildred Silva, our local telephone operators. Teny Garoian, Alice Souza, Ann Survilas, Eileen Obelsky, Lillian Jacobson, Bernice Halpern, Claire Allen, and Shirley Brown, all secretaries at the Frank Fardell Leather Company also eat here. It seems that everyone eats here since Edmund Hicky became the chef.

That looks like Peggy Kief, Sylvia Kristal, Frances Kirklys, Pat Grogan, and Phyllis Lewis coming out of Lucille Boyle's Beauty Shop. I guess they've stopped to look at the poster, which tells of the personal appearance of Lois Moran, Head of the Moran Dance Studios, and President of The Outdoor Society of America.

The Review

This year has been an interesting and profitable one for the REVIEW staff. The editor was assisted by an industrious editorial board of four girls, Lensey Chao, Carolyn Cremens, Frances McDonnell, and Constance Perin. The business was ably managed by Kirk Taylor and David Walsh, with Ursula VonZarsk as the competent advertising manager. The most popular feature of the REVIEW, The Spotlight, has prospered under the editing of Norma Higgins and Emma Thomas.

For the first time in several years, Photographs were included in the earlier numbers of the magazine. Charles Fosgate became our cooperative and competent photographer. A new feature, "May We Present," was introduced this year. This section consisted of short, biographical sketches of members of the four classes, including the Senior and Junior class officers.

The editor attended several meetings of the Boston Globe High School Editors' Club. Each member of the editorial board went to at least one of these parties, and competed in several of the Globe's contests on news reporting.

The staff wishes to express great appreciation to Miss Kelley, Mr. Higgins, and Mr. Santoro, without whose sacrifices of time and effort there would be no REVIEW.

One of the largest projects was the gift-box drive to which nearly everyone in the school contributed. The gifts included educational and health supplies through which we hope to create better feeling between our own and other lands.

During the Christmas Season the school participated wholeheartedly in making stuffed animals for unfortunate children.

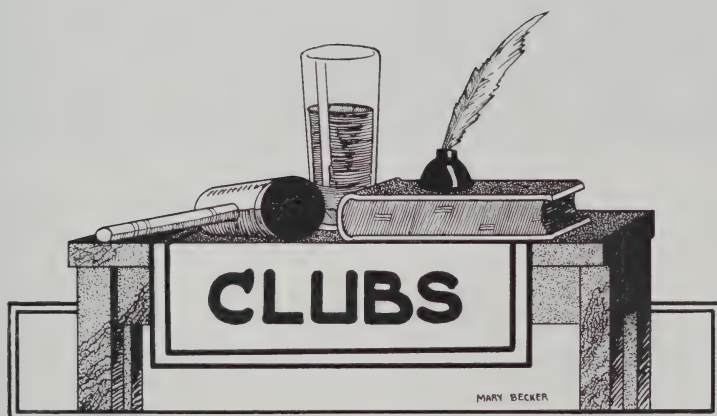

Through the Junior Red Cross a Home Nursing Course has been established in the school.

Correspondence albums have been prepared under the able direction of Mill McCaffrey and Glenna Slater, a senior taking Latin American Relations. Through these albums we hope to give Mexican children an idea of how we live in Cambridge.

With the help of many willing students the Junior Red Cross of Cambridge High and Latin School has accomplished many undertakings to be proud of.

Faculty advisers were Miss Ford, Miss Hunter, and Miss McCarthy.

The club was very active, not only in sending packages to a French war orphan, but also in the varied programs of the meetings held throughout the year. Singing French songs, playing Bingo in French, seeing a French motion picture and, later, slides accompanied by a French text, were some of the high-lights. Outside activities included a tour of the Fogg Art Museum, where an exhibit of French paintings was being held, and a trip to the Exeter Theatre, where a French film was being shown. In these ways the club brought its members a clearer understanding of France, its people, language, and culture.

German and Spanish Clubs

The purpose of the Spanish Club is, of course, to promote an appreciation of the culture of Spain and Latin America among students of the Spanish language. It is especially important at this time that we know our neighbors to the South. In the course of the year short plays are enacted, poems are read, games are played (in Spanish, of course) and pupils with talent entertain with songs, dances, and instrumental selections. All business is carried on in Spanish — and according to parliamentary procedure.

This year, under the guidance of our faculty advisor, Miss Parsons, and with the capable leadership of our energetic officers: Jennie Katsulis, President; Eugenia Felipe, Treasurer; and Beatrice Rodgers, Secretary, and an active program committee of which Lillian Connors is Chairman, the club has enjoyed many social activities. We had a delightful Pan-American Day celebration, and a gala fiesta to climax a most enjoyable year.

K. B. Report

This year K. B. became an Honor Society, admitting those girls of highest scholastic achievement. Twenty-one members of the senior and junior classes were initiated in December.

During the Christmas season the club carolled at the Holy Ghost Hospital.

On Valentine's Evening, in the Commander Ball-Room, lavishly and beautifully decorated by Carolyn Townsend and her committee, a large crowd danced to the rhythm of Ken Reeve's music, making our Winter Formal its usual great success.

We collected literature for hospitals and later happily packed and delivered Easter Baskets to the Holy Ghost and Tuberculosis Hospitals. Late in May we held a congé day at the beach. We closed our agenda with a formal ceremony at which the new officers were installed. As usual we are presenting a one-hundred dollar Scholarship to a deserving girl.

Reluctantly we Seniors leave, extending heart-felt thanks to Miss McElroy and Miss Young, our guiding stars, and promising to "Hold in reverence the ideal for which the K. B. stands."

DRAMATIC CLUB OFFICERS AND COMMITTEE

Dramatic Club

At the first Dramatic Club meeting the new members joined hands with the old in time for the quiz program with its master of ceremonies and board of experts. Then came our Hallowe'en Party at the Cambridge Boat Club. Pumpkins, streamers, doughnuts, and cider paved the way for bobbing for apples and games in the true spirit of the occasion.

Christmas provided the theme for the Dramatic Club Formal. With dance cards like our pins and mistletoe for each girl, the dance was a great success, in the ballroom decorated with bells, snow, and holly.

After an afternoon of Nosebag Dramatics, which was one of the most interesting and entertaining programs of the year, the club turned its thoughts to plays. At our March meeting, the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, Senior, and an all-class play were presented in competition. The Freshman play, Gratitude, and the all-class play, The Valiant, came out victorious.

At present, we are looking forward to "Curtain Time," on April eighteenth, when these two plays and The Bathroom Door will be presented. There will be the added attraction of specialties between the acts. A hayride and final party with the exit of the officers are also slated for the not too distant future.

All the officers and members wish to express their sincere appreciation to Miss Hartigan, who has given us such splendid guidance and high inspiration. Now, Warren MacIsaac, our president, Helen Bequaert, our vice-president, Carolyn Townsend, our secretary, and Jeanne Culhane, our treasurer, lead us in saying a fond farewell to Cambridge High and Latin School, as the curtain falls on the Dramatic Club of 1947.

Durrell Debating Club

The Debating Society is concluding a very interesting and educational season. The attendance at the bimonthly meetings was very encouraging and from them was derived a good deal of pleasure and information. At one of our very early meetings, the officers and program committee were elected and they are completing a commendable term of office.

The officers are as follows:

President

ESTELLE GIANATIEMPO

Vice President

JAMES DELANEY

Treasurer

LEONARD SUGARMAN

Secretary

ELAINE RING

Program Committee

JOSEPH MONROE, CHAIRMAN

DONALD MURPHY

BARBARA LEWIS

The club will close its season with some kind of good time, possibly a picnic.

Our heartiest thanks to Mr. Paul Dugan, our advisor, for his earnest cooperation.

ELAINE RING.

Outing Club

Six years ago a group of boys, who loved the out-of-door, formed the Outing Club. The first year the club was under the direction of Mr. Landrigan until he entered the service. It was then placed under the able direction of Miss McCarthy, who is still the club's faculty advisor. The purpose of the club is to acquaint the students with the beauty of the great outdoors. Indoor meetings consist of lectures and motion pictures of birds or related subjects. The most enjoyable and widely attended meetings of the club are its bird walks. These included trips to Nahant, the Wayside Inn, the Fenway, Mount Auburn, and Fresh Pond.

Among the club's other activities were an afternoon at the Ice Follies, a bowling party, a trip to the Gardner Museum, a bicycle trip, and a "weenie roast."

The members wish to express their gratitude to their advisor Miss McCarthy for her help and direction during the year.

Chess Club

Since we were once again without a sponsor, the officers R. Barbara, President; J. Aronson, Vice President, supervised matters and kept the Chess Club going.

Thus far our first team has done exceedingly well. The second team, composed of many inexperienced Freshmen has won only four games. However, these same inexperienced Freshmen should bring the chess trophy back to C. H. L. S. within the next year or two.

The following are the combined scores of the two teams in the matches played so far:

C. H. L. S.	5	Watertown	0
C. H. L. S.	4½	Boston English	5½
C. H. L. S.	3½	Brookline	6½
C. H. L. S.	4½	Roxbury Memorial	5½

In leaving, we wish the team of 1947-48 the best of luck, and hope they will have a very successful season.

JACK ARONSON.

Girls Sports — Basketball

The Latinites have had an unlucky season of basketball. All but one game was lost. Although the games were lost, the spirit was not. The girls honored the school by showing a feeling of sportsmanship throughout the season. Game after game the girls gave their all but did not seem to click.

The season was set off by a class game. The Seniors played the Juniors. Two out of three games have to be won by one team and the winner plays the winner of the Sophomore-Freshman battle. Two out of three games have to be won out of this contest and the winners receive silver basketballs. The Seniors won the first game by a score of 16 to 12.

The first outside game was played with Billerica (Howe High). This was the first time our school played this highly trained team. These students are in a league and outclassed our girls. However, the spirited Latinites fought hard to give them a small lead of five points. Score was 23 to 18.

Our second game was with Waltham at Waltham. This school is Latin's friendliest rival. We have beaten Waltham for many years and we did the same this year. It was one of the cleanest played games. The score was 25 to 21.

Our next game was played against Newton at Newton. Two evenly matched teams met for a title of victory which only one could have. We had not played this school for ten years, and tried for an early score. Latin was ahead most of the game, but a few well placed shots by the Newton team gave them the game by one point. 31 to 30.

Next Somerville came to us. They are traditional rivals of ours from way back. The girls put up a good fight but were up against a strong team. Score was 28 to 19.

Senior Basketball

The last outside game of the season was played against Arlington on our home grounds. This tall and powerful team steam-rolled over our team. This was the only game in which the players of the Cambridge School changed positions and did a good job in spite of the loss.

The Seniors and the Juniors played two more games and the Seniors won. The Sophomores won out on the Freshmen and were up against the Seniors for the first time. The latter having more years of basketball took the first two games by storm and there was no need to play the third. The Seniors will one of these days take proud possession of their silver basketballs.

The alumni game was enjoyed by all. Members of previous years attended and participated in the game one way or another. The alumni team, in high spirits, beat the school team by 4 points. The score was 28 to 24.

Soft Ball

The softball season as of now has just begun. In previous years, Latin has done wonderfully and expects to do even better this season. The girls are ready and willing and deserve some encouragement from the students of the school. Under the guidance of Coach Alice Brown the girls will go into a year of victory.

Swimming

The swimming season lasted for only four and one half weeks. Although the time was short, the sport was enjoyed by all who participated in it. In the years to follow we expect big things from this branch of athletics.

Football

The 1946 edition of the Cambridge Latin team suffered a disastrous season, salvaging only one tie out of nine. Under a new coach, John "Tweet" Reardon, who performed ably, Latin couldn't seem to effect a winning combination, losing several games by slight margins.

Notable examples of ill-luck included a heart breaking 14-13 defeat to St. Sebastians in which a missed point conversion proved disastrous; the Danvers game in which the Cantabs lost by five points, 12-7; and the Belmont frey, where the Latin eleven, with the score 6-6, marched down field, only to have Belmont intercept a pass and score in the dying seconds.

Stand out performers for C. H. L. S. included all scholastic end and captain Earl Daurie and triple threat man Jackie Cawley.

Lettermen were Daurie, Walker, Biddle, Bourque, Chaisson, Troy, Zaglakis, Bowser, Monteith, Haley, P. Boudreau, R. Boudreau, Cawley, Kelley, Polaro, Rigazio and J. Dynan.

Baseball

We go to press before the baseball season begins, but a fair estimate of the chances of the team can be made from practice sessions.

Coach Foley has a strong squad of veterans back from last year including Captain Earl Daurie at third, all scholastic Dick Rigazio at shortstop, Jack Barry and Jack Donahue at the keystone sack and Steve Biddle at first. Bob Curnane, Joe Fournier and Yaka Kelley as out-fielders, Jake Boudreau behind the plate, and Bill Craig and Dick Smith on the mound. Last year Latin finished in the third place, but this year, Coach Foley has a much more experienced team which could win the Suburban League title, as it has as much strength as any other contender.

Hockey

The latest hockey sextet for C. H. L. S. came within one game of winning the G. B. I. title, losing out to Arlington in the final game. The most successful team in recent years under Coach Culhane, rode over most of the teams in the league, losing only to Belmont 1-10, in a heart breaker. Four times Latin was tied, twice by Arlington 1-1 and by Medford and Newton.

Every member of the starting team was placed on the all scholastic teams, with Tassinari, Daurie and Smith receiving first team berths. Dick Rigazio, Jack Lee and Jack Donahue were on the second sextet.

Lettermen included Daurie, Lee, Tassinari, Donahue, Rigazio, Smith, Brennan, P. Boudreau, J. Boudreau, McLaughlin and Zanis, manager.

Tassinari, the goalie picked to start against Montreal Catholic for the All Stars, was the player of the year who improved most to become the league's best goalie. Earl Daurie was chosen the best all round player on the club, as he was in football, and showed his ability by beating Melrose single handed in a crucial game with two goals. Richie Smith finished fourth among the league scorers, scoring nine goals and two assists for eleven points. He was one of the first line with Dick Rigazio and Jack Donahue, two juniors, who performed well while the second line, the "B" line, had Paul and speedy Jake Boudreau along with Larry Brennan. Jack Lee helped Daurie in the defense, which was the best in the entire league.

Basketball

The first championship team in nearly ten years at Cambridge Latin went into the Tech Tourney, schoolboy basketball's tournament only to be defeated by Lawrence 37-36, in the most exciting game of the entire series.

Having overcome several obstacles during the course of the season, including ineligibility of players, a bitter one point defeat in the last seconds to eventual co-champion Waltham, and another hard fought four-point loss to defending champion Newton, Latin came through like the champion it was, rolling up an impressive 12-2 record before the Tech Tourney.

Highlights of the season included Captain John "Yaka" Kelley's brilliant all-round play; Latin's record in beating each opponent by nearly fifteen points, it's timely eight point defeat of Waltham in a game Latin had to win; the two overwhelming victories over city rivals, Rindge; and last but not least the inspiring play of the team in the Tech Tourney game in which the lead changed hands several times that which wasn't decided until the final ten seconds of play, when veteran Jim Lynch, who played superbly, missed a hook shot by inches.

Captain John Kelley and Earl Daurie, star guard and center Jack Cawley, Charley Durakis, Herb Lewis, and Al Francisconi, as well as Red Polaro deserve equal credit for leading the Cantabs to a title. This 1947 edition of the basketball team, under the title-age of Coach Koslowsky won't be duplicated for quite a long time.

Lettermen for the year are: J. Kelley, E. Daurie, G. Polaro, J. Cawley, J. Rogers, C. Durakis, H. Lewis, A. Francisconi, J. Lynch, W. Cusick, P. Hogan, and S. Saltman, Manager.

Track

Captain Charles Durakis was the life blood of the C. H. L. S. track team this year. From the opening meet of the winter season against Huntington, Coach Murphy depended on Durakis to carry the burden. In that first meet he proceeded to score eleven of the twenty-five points scored by Cambridge in the entire meet. In the North Eastern meet, at the Boston Garden, Durakis produced a record breaking 300 to garner the only Cantab point. Flink, Carwile, Corcoran and Myers aided. Flink is second to Durakis in points scored.

Lettermen are Durakis, Flink, Carwile, and Corcoran.

Class Will—1947

We, the class of 1947 of Cambridge High and Latin School, being of sound mind and body, do declare this to be our last will and Testament and do bequeath all our possessions accumulated in the past four years to these our beneficiaries:

To the unsuspecting freshmen we leave our bag of tricks which we hope will aid them in surviving the many trying experiences which they will encounter during the next four years.

To the somewhat wiser sophomores, we leave the comforting consolation that they have only three more pleasant years before bidding sweet adieu to our beloved Alma Mater.

To the juniors we leave the distinguished honor of finally becoming upper classmen, a stock of used campaign posters, and the forthcoming pleasure of the junior prom.

To the seniors we leave the capable guidance of Mr. Bramhall and Miss McElroy and also the ultimate climax of their high school careers,—graduation.

To several of our classmates, we leave the distinguished title of post-graduate and its many accompanying privileges.

To the veterans we leave a special messenger service to enable them to receive their subsistence checks without absenting themselves from class.

To the faculty we leave our sincere thanks for the patience and understanding which they have shown us during the past four years.

To Mr. Bramhall we leave a filing cabinet to enable him to use his desk for the purpose for which it was intended.

To Miss McElroy we leave a group of young enthusiasts eager for her expert advice on charm.

To Mr. Sateriale we leave a pair of dice and a deck of cards to demonstrate the theory of combinations, permutations, and probability.

To Mr. McKenna we leave our hope for his success in discovering how to replace gasoline by water as a motor fuel.

To Miss Ford we leave a sharp class in French III.

To Miss Butler we leave a publisher who will consent to print her edition of Macbeth in accordance with her wishes.

To Mr. Derry we leave a new language for him to master.

To Miss Davey and Miss Hogan we leave two adjoining classrooms so that they may conveniently prolong their lunchtime discussions.

To the general public we leave four classes of students who some day will be the civic leaders of our community.

In witness whereof we have set our hands and seals, to this, our last Will and Testament, on this sixth day of June, in the year of Our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and forty-seven.

CLASS OF 1947,

BURTON GROSS,

HERBERT LEWIS,

Chief Advocates.

Epilogue

Having reached the conclusion of our four years' voyage of learning, we see that the time is at hand to bid farewell to all the pleasant associations that we have made here.

Although hindered at times by rough weather and even severe storms, the many days of smooth sailing have been more than enough to compensate for our worries and troubles.

Now as we embark upon our life long voyage, we leave behind the things we did, the people we met — and won't forget, the careful guidance of our teachers, and the warm, loving friendship of our deans, assistant and headmasters.

Let us hope that we may bring this new voyage, though it may be filled with trials and tribulations, to a happy and successful conclusion.
